IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION. BEFORE MR. E. J. ACRESTO, ACTING Puisne Judge.

TRE JEWELLERY CABE. Judgment was given in the case of Wong Ngan v. Chun Poon Hung in which the plaintiff ture, and clothing alleged to have been unlawfully detained by the defendant, with whom the plaintiff lived for several years as his second wife. Mr. Wilkinson appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. Phillippo (instructed by Mesers, Dennys) and Mossop) for the defendant.

His Lordship said there was no evidence at all that the defendant, as was alleged, had driven the plaintiff from his house, nor that the goods claimed were wrongfully detained by him. The plaintiff had called a jeweller, who said that some time ago be had made certain articles for her, but that did not prove that they were in her possession on the 10th September when she alleged she was turned out of the house. SHE PUT IT IN THE CUPBOARD. What a weary thing it is to be ill, especially for a long time. You are tired of advice, tired of trying this, that, and the other, tired of fancying you are a triffe better, tired of taking cautions against getting worse. You are tired of pain, and half believe the sooner you are under the ground the better for you, and the more agreeable to your friends. Here's a little story. A woman told it lately. Howard Street, Liverpool, declare as follows:

"I, Mary Jones, of 3, Galton Street, Great "I have suffered all my life from weakness of the stomach and sluggish liver. I was always tired and languid, and often troubled with bilious headache. My appetite was poor. I never had desire for food, and what I did out did not digest properly. I had always a bad taste in my mouth and a slimy soum would cover my mouth and teeth, and so bid was this that I was obliged to rinse it away before eating. When I was in my teens I was very weakly and would faint after sitting down to my meals. I had trembling at the heart, with a heavy weight at the chest, pain at my side, and a strange giddy feeling would come over me. When out walking in the street I used to have to stand and rest for fear of failing. I was also so weak that when going about my work I often had to sit. down and rest. At times I had a bad cough and pain in my lungs. I saw doctor after doctor, and was under medical treatment for more than twelve years. One doctor said I was suffering from an enlargement of the liver, another said I had heart disease, a third said my lungs were congested and that I could not recover. Thinking I was now in a consumption, I went to a consumptive hospital and was under treatment there for some time. The doctors, after sounding my chest, told me I was in a decline, and that my left lung was congested. They gave me cod-liver oil and other medicines, but I got no better. "In July, 1890, after a bad fainting I became so bad I had to take to my bed, and was attended by three doctors for a month. The first doctor who saw me said I could not recover. I had intense pains in my stomach, and could get nothing to pass my bowels. Various means were tried and found useless. I could take liquid food only and was fast sinking. my case being considered hopeless by both the physician and the nurse. At this time it was that my husband heard through Mr. Parry, the chemist in Great Howard Street, of a medicine called Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup, and we were presented with a book which described a case just like mine having been cured by it. - My husband produced a bottle of this medicine and I began taking it. After a few doses I passed a motion as black as coal and experienced great relief, and shortly after felt as if I wanted something to eat. When the dooter called the next day he could see a marked change in me and said, 'Mrs Jones. we have given you the right medicine at last." He thought it was his last bottle that had workted the change, whereas the nurse had put the medicine in the cupboard untouched. I went on with Mother Seigel's Syrup, and to the delight of my husband, father, and nurse I never looked behind me. All the pain at the heart and chest gradually left me, and in a fortnight L was strong enough to be removed to the seaside.

and have ever since been in good bealth. "I never felt so well in my life as I do now. All my friends consider the cure as a miraculous one, and I wish others to know by what means my life was saved. I am willing that Messra. A. J. White, Limited, shall make whatever use they may think fit of this statement, and I hereov authorise them to do so. " Dated this 3rd April, 1891.

"(Signed) Mrs. MABY JONES." There was nothing "miraculous" about this ady's recovery, although it may have been, and indeed it was remarkable. But it was all along the straight lines of nature. She had suffered all her life from indigestion and dyspepsia, and her other ailments arose from that, and that alone. She could not direct her food, and the whole system was perishing from the poison in the stomach and from lack of nutrition. Mother Siegel's Syrup did its one work, it cleaned away the corrupted matter and set the digestive organs the liver, stomach, and bowels) in natural operation, and immediate improvement and final recovery followed as necessary consequences.

Especially should the reader notice the close resemblance between the symptoms of dyspepsia and those of consumption, through which most unhappy mistakes are constantly made. Never conclude you have consumption until you are sure it isn't dyspepsia. The chances are that the result will be the same as in Mrs. Jones' case.
